

ABSTRACT

An operating system preferably for use with a digital signal processing target is disclosed which minimizes time and space requirements on the target DSP chip. The operating system is also 5 configured in accordance with parameters entered by a user regarding the application being developed.

09845636 043001
TODD H. GREGG